LABOR DAY RESOLUTIONS

THE anniversary of the institution of Labor Day will be a red letter event in the history of the country. Not the red letter day the calendars used to picture as the happiest days of the season but a red letter day incarnadined with the blood of heroes and the life fluid of martyrs who have given their lives that reason and justice may triumph over the demands of militarism and autocracy and that the world may live and grow better as it advances towards the millennium. The holiday this year is one of the most solemn occasions for the consideration of the questions affecting the prosperity and welfare of the nation. The cost of production and the cost of living are two objects, that are now engaging the thoughts of the wisest men of the world. All theories have been shattered by the abnormal state of affairs precipitated by world wide hostilities and it behooves every one of us to deal calmly and dispassionately with our own affairs and the affairs of the country. The events of the past year have brought forth a betterment of industrial life that is conferring on thousands the blessings of an eight-hour day with material advantages in the way of earnings. The necessities of the hour have compelled the adoption of an eight-hour day with the discovery that men provided with proper nourishment, owing to increased earning capacity, can furnish a faithful requital for the shorter hours and advanced compensation. A peaceful revolution has taken place in the ranks of labor and there is a better disposition to adjudicate differences than ever before. There is less thought of rushing into strikes or engaging in suicidal warfare with capital than at any previous time. This has been brought about in a measure by the presence of a common enemy which is seeking to undermine the friendly sentiment between labor and employers. In the presence of a great danger and, in spite of insidious influences, the labor situation is brighter than in most other countries where the masses have not the same freedom of expression as they have in the United States but this very surfeit of prosperity carries with it the one element which may engulf the trades if they are not content to meet new issues squarely with the one object of perpetuating the present reign of reason.

FOLLY OF A NEW FAD

IT has remained for Chairman Herbert Hoover to disabuse the minds of the American people of the conviction that he is any way responsible for the many fads sprung on the public in the name of food regulation. The province of the regulator is not alone to conserve food but to endeavor to adjust business and economic conditions to the many new demands made upon our resources with the determination to avoid anything that would disjoin the business of the country. The adoption of a meatless day is a contrivance of the hotel and restaurant men as established by the knowledge that by reducing the quantity of meat served at their tables they would bring about a remarkable saving in the costs of administering their establishments. The guests, so far as announced, were not to receive any benefit from this sacrifice. There was not to be any reduction in the cost of meals and the saving would be simply another way of adding to the dividends of the catering firms. If the insane policy had been carried into execution the result would be as disastrous as a famine itself for it would deprive the packing houses, cattle growers and husbandmen of a market for many of their products and therefore bring about an industrial situation that would have wrought ruin in the homes of those whose only employment is found in these trades. Thrift is not deprivation. On the contrary Mr. Hoover has essayed repeatedly by lesson and example the fallacy of cutting down rations to the point where the retrenchment would bring about a serious impairment of physical conditions. It is like the suggestion that women go around in their old clothes and thus save vast sums of money. If the economy is simply going to increase the hoards of inactive wealth nothing would be gained by either the citizen or nation for such a course would unsettle living conditions to an extent that would speedily entail a social uprising. The difference in the principles of Mr. Hoover is that between throwing away and wasting and saving what we do not waste so that it may be converted to other uses. There is no economy in depriving the worker of his or her opportunity to earn a living at their regular calling for such a course would impose additional burdens on us as a community that would have to be met by the expenditure of money for relief work. The real economy is in preventing waste and diverting what we save to some useful end. When the war is in full swing and the nation begins to feel the effects of the millions withdrawn from industrial life there will be no shortage of employment for all and the best and most approved method is to keep on living as nearly like our normal life without indulging in any extravagances. With economy there will be an abundance of food for all but with waste there will be a shortage of food for our allies in Europe.

The notable successes of the Italians on the Triest frontier are due in a measure to the daring and skill of the Italian birdmen whose exploits demonstrate the value of aerial form of attack which paves the way for the land forces to advance. When the United States airplane service is brought to perfection by raising an army of aviators we may expect to duplicate the same experiences on the western front.

The action of the state authorities of Minnesota in not permitting the alleged peace council of America to hold meetings in that state will meet with the approbation of every honest citizen. This is no time for disguised aid to the enemy to gain a footing anywhere and those who frown down such attempts will have universal backing.

With that innate modesty that characterizes William Randolph Hearst he says he has no intention of running for mayor of New York. His experience with the presidential bee took the joy out of political life when it comes to the popular vote.

Germany is long on promises and short of fulfillment, a fact that is amply proven by the experience of Poland. Argentina should not close her eyes to the trap which was laid to gain her silence.

Unless Germany comes to the aid of the dual monarchy of Austria-Hungary there can be no dodging the separate peace proposition which is about the only escape for the nation that provoked the world's war.

Airplanes and destroyers, apparently are the most formidable form of attack and the wisdom of the administration in devoting billions to enlarging these branches will eventually bring its own reward.

That there will be no return to the five cent loaf in the eastern country is an assured fact but then the people should be thankful that they have the full loaf in sight at any price.

The United Railroads of San Francisco is an elegant example of the folly of a great corporation antagonizing the masses instead of seeking to please by improving its service.

The losses of tramp freighters carrying supplies to our troops in France will be reduced to a minimum by the new order providing for an armed escort.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Yesterday's Games

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Washington went into fifth place in the American league and New York into sixth when the Senators took a double header from the Yankees by scores of 4 to 1 and 6 to 3, the latter an eleven inning contest. The visitors won the first game in the second inning when they scored three runs on two hits, a pass and Githooley's error. Ayres pitched well. Shocker, twirled good ball for New York in the second game but weakened in the eleventh inning.

(By Associated Press.) CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Chicago won its ninth straight game by defeating St. Louis 8 to 2. The locals bunched hits off Davenport in the sixth inning and forced him to retire. They then continued the attack on Sothoron. Faber was unsteady and retired in the sixth inning in favor of Williams, who had no trouble holding the visitors safe. Although Chicago won its game yesterday they lost one-half a game in the pennant race to Boston, who won a double header from Philadelphia. Chicago now leads by 4½ games.

(By Associated Press.) BOSTON, Sept. 1.—Boston took both games of the double header with Philadelphia, the first 5 to 3 and the second 6 to 2. Ruth opposed Seibold in the opening and held the opposition unless until the eighth.

In the second game Carl Mays turned in his seventh straight victory. Myers was wild. Anderson, who relieved him, allowed the home team but one run in the last five innings.

(By Associated Press.) CLEVELAND, Sept. 1.—Defeating Detroit 1 to 0, Cleveland retained third place. The victory was due to the steady pitching of Coveleskie and the brilliant fielding of Chapman and Evans. Cleveland scored the only run of the game on a pass to Speaker, Roth's sacrifice and Turner's two base hit.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Yesterday's Games

(By Associated Press.) CINCINNATI, Sept. 1.—Despite the fact that the game was decidedly ragged, Cincinnati and Chicago played a remarkable contest, darkness finally ending it with the score tied 8 to 8. Going into the ninth with the score 4 to 4, the visitors tallied a run, only to be tied up again by the locals in that round. In the tenth Chicago again scored one, but Cincinnati batted strong and tied it up. In the eleventh it looked as if the visitors would surely win for they scored two runs, but once more Cincinnati hit the ball hard and a double and two triples netted them two runs.

(By Associated Press.) PITTSBURG, Sept. 1.—St. Louis lost on Forbes' field for the first time this year, Pittsburgh winning the first game 2 to 0. The visitors came back at the end of the fifth inning on account of rain, and defeated the home team, 1 to 0. Inability to hit Jacobs with men on bases, lost the first game for St. Louis. In the second the only run was tallied on Snyder's double and Ames' single.

(By Associated Press.) BROOKLYN, Sept. 1.—Brooklyn won the first game of a double header from New York 5 to 4 and the second was tied 1 to 1 in 11 innings when darkness intervened. It will be played off in New York.

Herzog hurt his back in the first game as he slid into the plate. He collapsed on the bench and had to be carried to the clubhouse. He may be out indefinitely.

(By Associated Press.) PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1.—Stock's splendid playing enabled Philadelphia to defeat Boston 4 to 3. Stock's two hits drove in three runs and he scored the deciding tally in the seventh inning when, with two out Kelly muffed Ludrus' fly.

HUMBOLDT RIVER TO BE SURVEYED

GOVERNMENT AND STATE ENGINEERS INVESTIGATING STORAGE RESERVOIR SITES

After proving the practicability of irrigation projects on the Truckee and Carson rivers, the government, in cooperation with the state engineer, is looking into the feasibility of conserving the surplus and flood waters of the Humboldt river for the purpose of reclamation of a greater area of agricultural and ranch land.

A party of engineers and assistants arrived here yesterday, says the Humboldt Star, to arrange for the preliminary surveys, which will start from the Lovelock valley at once.

The party consists of Dr. Samuel Fortier of Washington, D. C., chief of the bureau of irrigation and investigation for the federal government; J. G. Scroggins, state engineer; F. L. Bixby, head of the local irrigation and investigation bureau of the federal government; Seymour Case, deputy state engineer; F. Warren and R. A. Allen.

Dr. Fortier expects to spend a week or ten days looking over the project and then a force of engineers from the state engineer's office and the irrigation and investigation department will proceed with a survey of the Humboldt river and its tributaries. The expense of the survey work is to be borne in equal proportions by the state and the federal department of irrigation, the funds for which are already available.

According to the engineers there is a tremendous waste of waters of the river in seepage and evaporation and the present survey is for the purpose of investigating the practicability of various proposed storage reservoir sites and to straighten the channel of the river, which is very winding in its course, and to deepen the channel in several places.

A great deal of this work will be done near Battle Mountain and Argenta, where the river bottom is of great width and where there are numerous sloughs.

After the present reconnaissance, permanent survey crews in charge

FIRST AVIATION UNIT FROM CUBA

(By Associated Press.)

HAVANA, Cuba, Sept. 1.—Colonel Manuel Coronado, member of the Cuban senate and editor of the newspaper La Discusion, has added a new phase to Cuba's alliance with the United States in the war against Germany by organizing an aviation unit which, it is announced, will be offered to France, with complete equipment, in the near future. Though other means of cooperation have assumed shape here since Cuba's declaration of war against Germany on April 8 last, it is believed probable, from the enthusiasm shown by its members, that the "Escadrille Cubaine," as the flying unit will be called, will be the first body of fighting men from Cuba to serve on French soil.
